RegulatoryID™

Navigate Life Sciences Compliance Requirements with Ease

Learn about your organization’s current obligations and stay up-to-date with evolving legislative changes impacting the Life Sciences industry with RegulatoryID. Researched, written, and edited by MedPro’s in-house team of pharmaceutical and medical device compliance professionals and attorneys, RegulatoryID offers a centralized, easy to use resource library of Federal, State, and Local requirements covering:

- Transparency Reporting
- Gift bans and limitations
- Field representative registration and licensure
- Compliance program requirements

RegulatoryID offers proactive updates on transparency related industry news, evolving requirements, and deadline reminders via email alerts. This information can be easily shared within your organization using the download and email functionality embedded within the platform.

RegulatoryID is included at no extra cost to all MedPro ComplianceReportingID™ customers or can be licensed as a standalone solution.

All information is fully searchable, can be filtered by pharmaceutical or medical device manufacturer specific requirements, and returned in two levels of detail:

- Visual Summaries provide a quick reference guide of high-level requirements across all jurisdictions in scope per topic
- Detailed Compilations (Navigators) outline requirements from disparate laws, regulations, and guidance documents in one convenient location, with links to authoritative sources for each topic and jurisdiction. This includes access to current, pending, and archived requirements; versions can be compared head-to-head and changes are highlighted for ease of users

MedPro’s Compliance Advisory Services team can also build out or enhance all elements of effective compliance programs, including robust transparency programs.
